

PEDESTRIANS

People who walk along the road are called pedestrians. A pedestrian must always look out for cars while he is walking. A car is heavy and can move very fast. A pedestrian gets hurt very badly in a collision. He has no protection. The driver of the car is protected by the car he is sitting in.

Pedestrians think drivers can see them but often the driver only sees the pedestrian when it is too late to stop.

Crossing the road is very dangerous. The road is made for cars not pedestrians. A pedestrian must be wide awake while he is walking. He must keep looking and listening for traffic.

FIND THE RIGHT ROAD

The driver of this car wants to get home. Help him choose the right way by following the correct road with a pencil line. Do not go over any lines. Once the road has been marked take the letters in the road and make a sentence below. Doing what the sentence says makes you safer as you cross the street.
