1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this submission is to request the Department to grant authority to advertise and appoint a service provider to assist the Department in developing a Provincial Public Transport Policy.

2. BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

Public transport has the potential to be a major contributor to economic growth, social upliftment, poverty alleviation, black economic empowerment and job creation. It is one of the major factors impacting on the quality of life and well-being of urban and rural communities. Furthermore, public transport has the potential to play a major role in supporting a stable workforce and attractive business investment environment.

In our urban areas the majority of the workforces are the urban poor who are traveling by public transport. Their journeys are in many instances characterised by excessive travel times including long wait times often with inadequate shelter. These trips are undertaken in unsafe vehicles, with poor driver performance and behaviour and little concern for the wellbeing of the passengers. Poor public transport impact our economy by contributing to workforce instability in terms of absenteeism and lack of optimum performance.

The provision of universally accessible, safe, reliable, efficient and affordable public transport could result in communities having: -

- Better access to health care and other essential social services;
- Opportunity for better education;
- Greater mobility and access to economic opportunity;
- Reduced loss of life and injury resulting from poor standards of public transport service;
- A safer travel environment with reduced exposure to crime;
- Less stress and improved work performance;
- Increasing productivity with potential for higher income;
- Higher standards of living for the poorer communities with increased opportunity resulting from more affordable transport;
- A safer environment in centres where there is concentrated public transport activity;
- Lower levels of congestion and pollution in the longer term;

The provincial public transport system is experiencing deteriorating public transport infrastructure and fleet, declining service to the users and escalating, unsustainable levels of subsidy expenditure. The various roles and responsibilities played by the all levels of government in the public transport planning and implementation further contributes to the existing complexities.

The National Land Transport Act, Act 5 of 2009 (NLTA) requires provinces to formulate a provincial policy and strategy within the framework of the national policy and strategy. The Act further requires that the MEC after consulting planning authorities in the province, publish a provincial land transport policy. The development of a Provincial Public Transport Policy falls within the requirements of the NLTA.

The development of the Provincial Public Transport Policy will thus contribute towards: -

- Giving effect to the National Policy;
- Transforming and restructuring of public transport in the province;
- Prescribing principles, requirements, guidelines, process, frameworks, as well as norms and standards that must be applied in the provision and enforcement of public transport;
- Consolidating public transport functions, which includes the roles and responsibilities of key stakeholders.
